LIBRARIES AND THE ECONOMY: TIMES MAY BE TOUGH, BUT YOUR LIBRARY IS HERE FOR YOU!

The Plaseks drop in to visit the library as a family.

There have been several stories in the news lately about how people across the country are using their libraries more often in these tough economic times. In fact, if you've been to Moore recently, you may have noticed more people in our library, too. That's because no matter what kind of news you're hearing on T.V., there is still a wealth of resources at your fingertips in the library – and they're available to you regardless of your income stream.

If you're a job-seeker, you can use the library to search and apply for jobs online, work on your resume and cover letters, apply for unemployment benefits online, or to find books and online resources to help you improve your job skills. If you've decided that you're ready to be your own boss, we have plenty of material on making a business plan and starting your own small business. If you're still nervous about using a computer and the internet, don't let yourself be left behind – we offer free computer classes for beginning users; come find out what you've been missing!

Most government agencies now offer online applications for services, and many patrons use library computers to print out their own tax forms, apply for social services like food stamps, Medicaid, and the CHIPS children's health insurance program, and register for Social Security retirement benefits.

If you're looking for ways to cut costs in your household, you may want to check out some of our books on do-it-yourself home improvement, or if you're planning to eat at home more often, take a look at our cookbook section. Our new Chilton auto repair database is available for patrons who want to fix their own cars. And, of course, there has been a flood of new books in our personal finance section to advise you on how best to weather the financial crisis.

For students, we have lots of online and print resources to help get the homework finished. Whether you've got a 4th grader tackling a science project or are a college student trying to find literary criticism on the Romantic poets, we've got reliable information in print and online from our reference databases.

The relentless bad news on the state of the world has left some of us looking for a (cheap!) way to relax: don't worry, the library has you covered! You don't have to spend money to take a break from real life – just pick up a book or magazine (and the DVD's and CD's are free too). If you're not sure what to read, take a peek at our Reader's Advisory database (available on-site or from home, with your library card), or stop by the Reference Desk – we're happy to help you navigate the collection. Our goal is to help connect you to the information you need to live your best life now, regardless of the economy.

MOORE LIBRARY RECEIVES VISIT FROM CANADIAN AUTHOR

In March, Moore Library welcomed Canadian author Janet Kitz to Texas City. Ms. Kitz has written several books on Canadian history, including two held by Moore Library that focus on the 1917 industrial explosion in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Ms. Kitz journeyed to Texas City to enjoy the local birding scene and to view some of Moore Library's material on the Texas City disaster of 1947. Ms. Kitz has proposed that there are parallels between the Halifax explosion of 1917 and the explosion that occurred in Texas City disaster of 1947.

If you'd like to check out one of Ms. Kitz's books and decide for yourself, stop by the Reference Desk and we'll help you find it.

TAX DAY 2009 – IT’S ALMOST HERE!

Tax day is April 15th – are you ready? The IRS has made all tax forms, instruction booklets and publications available through its website, www.irs.gov. This year, MMPL received only a limited number of instruction booklets from the IRS – no paper copies of tax forms are available at the library. We have dedicated one public computer solely for printing out IRS forms and instructions until April 15th, and our reference staff is happy to help patrons print forms from the IRS website. Printing costs are 10¢ per page.

ATTENTION SHADE TREE MECHANICS: WE’VE GOT A NEW DATABASE FOR YOU!

Patrons of the year, make and models of their cars. The database provides repair instructions, service bulletins, and maintenance information specific to each model. It also includes diagrams and some online videos.

The database is available to all onsite patrons at the library, and patrons who have Moore library cards can also access it at home via the internet. Just go to the library’s homepage, www.texascity-library.org, and click on the “Connect to Library Databases” link. The link to the Chilton Library database is the first one on the list. For more information on our newest database – or any of our other materials – stop by the Reference Desk or give us a call at 643-5977.

base provides access to repair information for cars, trucks and SUV’s up to 45 years old. Limited information is available on specific models older than that as well. Patrons can search for repair information based on

NEW LAPTOPS AT THE LIBRARY

Moore Library recently purchased five additional laptop computers for patron use, bringing our total to ten. The new computers are all equipped with the Windows Vista operating system and Microsoft Office 2007 software. These new computers will allow us to conduct computer classes in the library’s meeting room, as well as providing additional computers for patrons to use for internet browsing or research during our busiest times of the day.

Complementing our new laptop purchases, the library also upgraded its wifi service so that we can accommodate more simultaneous wireless internet users. Moore Library offers free wireless internet access to patrons who wish to bring their personal laptops to the library. Be sure to charge your laptop batteries first, as we do not currently have electrical outlets for patron use.

PREVIEW: TEXAS CITY READS 2009

We will be continuing our annual Texas City Reads program this August with the book The Guernsey Literary and Potato Peel Pie Society, by Mary Ann Shaffer and Annie Barrows.

The novel is set in London, just after the end of World War II. The war is over, but the city still hasn't recovered from the bombings and the privations of the war years. The main character, Juliet, is a single author who has found a niche writing books that attempt to find "the sunny side" of the war and its aftermath.

Juliet finds herself casting about for the topic of her next book, and unexpectedly finds it when she receives a letter from an unknown man from Guernsey who came across her name and address in a used book. Guernsey is one of the English Channel Islands lands, which were the only British territory occupied by the Germans during World War II. Juliet is moved to continue her correspondence with this man and many of his friends, who comprise the unique book club of the title. Juliet finds herself caught up in the Guernsey Islanders' stories of life under the Nazi occupation and ultimately decides to make a visit there that changes her life.

Told solely through the characters' letters to each other, the novel tackles difficult subject matter without losing sight of the characters' quiet heroism and ability to find humor in unexpected places.

The book discussion on GLPPPS will take place in August. If you'd like to get a head start on reading, the library currently holds print and audio copies of the book. Additional copies of the book will be available at the Circulation Desk in late May.

APRIL COMPUTER CLASSES

Our computer classes are aimed at beginning to intermediate computer users. All attendees will be pre-screened for skill level before each class. The next set of computer classes will begin next fall. Check with the Reference Department beginning in August for the fall computer class schedule.

AP SUMMER READING FOR TCHS & LHS STUDENTS

This summer we will be reprising our AP Summer Reading Program for students of Texas City and LaMarque Schools. Beginning in June, students in AP classes will be allowed to check out their summer reading books from the library. If students attend the book discussion of their summer reading material at Moore Library, they will be allowed to keep the book. For more information on this program, including book discussion dates, please check with the Reference Desk in late May.

Amber Donald takes time to relax and enjoy a magazine in the Periodical section.

SUMMER VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUNG ADULTS

Alyssa Stevens & Asher Brown use the library to study.

We are looking for teens or college applications, or they can use the volunteer hours to “work off” their library fines. Teens interested in this program should contact the Reference Desk at 409/643-5977. Children are encouraged to “read off” their fines to teen mentors. The library does not want fines to keep children from reading this summer! Children are encouraged to clear their blocked cards and practice their reading skills with a Chapter Chum. Children up to age eleven can reduce their book fines $3.00 for every fifteen minutes of reading. Please note that this program applies only to book fines and not fines from lost or damaged materials. Children may only read off their own fines, not those of other family members.

Teen participants can choose to either use their volunteer hours to gain community service credit for honor societies
