Lana used to know what was real. That was before, when her life was small and quiet, when her stepbrother Ben was alive. She could only dream about fitting in. She could tell truth from lies, and Ben's childhood stories were firmly imagination. Then came after. After has horrors. Deaths that only make sense in fairy tales and terrors from a past Lana believed long forgotten. Or so she thought.

JANUARY 2019

Rufus Holt's night isn't going well. His ex-boyfriend Sebastian makes a reappearance, claiming they need to talk, just as Rufus is getting ready to move on. Then he gets a phone call from his sister, April, begging for help. But when the boys find her drenched in blood and holding a knife beside the dead body of her boyfriend, Rufus' night goes from bad to worse.

YP FIC ROEHRIG

Flynn's girlfriend, January, is missing. And as her boyfriend, he's suspect number one. The cops are asking questions he can't answer. Her friends are telling stories that don't add up. And all eyes are on Flynn during the investigation. But he has a secret of his own. As he struggles to find out the truth about January's disappearance, he must also face the truth about himself.

No one wants me to tell you about the disappearance of Sloane Sullivan. Not the lawyers, the cops, her friends, or her family. Not even the boy who loved her. And definitely not the U.S. Marshals Service. You know, the people who run the witness protection program. But I don't care. I have to tell someone. Because if I don't, you'll never know how, when it comes down to it, you can't trust anyone. Not even yourself.

YP FIC CRIBBS / (E. B.)

Skye Thorn has read tarot cards for years. Now, her psychic visions are helping police find a missing girl. Her readings have always been fake, but she has info since she's in on the crime. No one would get hurt and she'd have the funds needed for a new life. But a seemingly harmless prank soon turns dark. When the people she's working with decide to kill to get what they want, Skye must discover who they are before it's too late.
